LENOX

Bring a burst of opulent, glamorous gold to the dinner table with the new Casual Radiance collection from Lenox, available in early August. The bone china, handcrafted by artisans at the company's factory in North Carolina, is accented with glistening 24-karat gold. But it delivers functional convenience along with shimmer—the dinnerware is dishwasher-safe for easy cleanup when the party's over. (lenox.com)

SERENA & LILY

Talk about great timing! Serena & Lily just introduced the "Avalon," a new rattan daybed that's a perfect companion for summer afternoon naps and alfresco daydreams. Inspired by a 1940s French sofa spotted during their travels, designers from the California home and lifestyle company shaped this airy, natural-fiber creation as a great go-to spot for those indulgent summer pursuits. KGBL

Master a traditional-contemporary mix in one cabinet with the "Johansson" by luxury furnituremaker KGBL. The bold, lacquered-aluminum exterior encases burl-walnut drawers with milled-copper pulls. Customize it for your home by choosing from a variety of sizes, metals, veneers, and colors—even doors rather than drawers. (kgblnyc.com)

RÉGIME DES FLEURS

A love of flowers and a passion for perfume set the foundation for Régime des Fleurs, a company founded by Los Angeles friends Alia Raza and Ezra Woods. Their beautifully bottled fragrances are handmade using natural ingredients from around the world to evoke a multiplicity of floral moods. (regimesdesfleurs.com)

WINDSOR SMITH

Classic patterns—from traditional chevrons to trompe l'oeil parquets—get a new spin, courtesy of designer Windsor Smith. Her Couture collection of wood surfacing for floors and walls for Jamie Beckwith Collection features five patterns, including "Hot to Trot" (above), in a range of stain options.
